1. Goals and methodology: This three-week program focuses on daily communication skills (oral fluency and listening comprehension), community, and Hawaiian and American culture at the Advanced level. It includes activities that focus on practical communication, which include: group work, debates, campus surveys as well as oral reports and presentations. Coursework also includes: five interchange sessions, a two-hour hula workshop, and a final speaking project.

Objectives: Students will:

- A. Listen to 7-10 minute listening passages; understand speaker tone and attitude;
- B. Read and understand 4-5 page texts;
- C. Understand religions, political issues, and current of Hawaiian and American culture;
- D. Use a variety of strategies to show agreement and disagreement;
- E. Engage in 7-10 minute communicative tasks (e.g. debates, presentations, speeches);
- F. Participate in community- based educational activities.

Student learning outcomes: As a result of participating in the course, students will be able to:

- A. Answer wh-questions about a speaker's stated and implied meanings from listening passages after two listenings;
- B. Describe extended details about passages three to four pages in length;
- C. State 10 details about Hawaiian/American religions, political issues, and current topics with almost no use of notes;
- D. Ask classmates a variety of grammatically correct questions to get them to clarify their assertions during presentations and during group projects;
- E. Speak for 8-9 minutes on assigned topics using almost no notes or practiced phrases;
- F. Create developed surveys; complete them by interacting with people in the community.

2. Course Materials:

- A. All materials are provided by the teacher.
- B. Students are required to bring handouts and materials to class.

3. Grading criteria:

A. Performance evaluations will be based on:

Three-week NICE Program

5. Attendance policy: The NICE Program has a strict attendance policy.
 - A. No certificate if more than 6 hours of class time are missed (tardies and absences).
 - B. Arrival after the class begins is considered "tardy."
 - C. Contact the NICE office before class if absent or late.
 - D. Unexcused absences of more than 3 days may lead to dismissal from the program

6. Class meetings: During Three-week NICE, classes meet four hours a day: Summers, 830-1220PM; Winters, 1230-420PM.

7. Classroom behavior and courtesy:
 - A. Classroom attendance and participation are integral to your improvement in English. Therefore, coming to class and being prepared are important parts of your grade.
 - B. Courtesy includes respect and aloha for each other. This is reflected in our tolerance for others' ideas, and in our not checking social media or texting during class time.

8. Plagiarism: Plagiarism is not allowed. Plagiarism is your use of other people's materials/ideas and presenting them as your own. You must cite the sources of information used for presentations and writing assignments.

9. Accommodation: Please inform us if you would like to request accommodation. We will do our best to support those who might need accommodation based on a disability.
